No. 34

January 1956

There's a trend back to the old fashioned idea of family activities centering in the kitchen. Some of the latest kitchen designs include a play area where the family can congregate. Here a pink Chord Organ trimmed with gold is in the "play area" part of General Electric's model kitchen. Pink was chosen as the color for the Chord Organ to match the kitchen cabinets. The G. E. electric range (concealed by the screen) offers contrast with a bright canary yellow. The walls are of red wood paneling giving balance to the color scheme.

A National Home in Tyler, Texas featured the Chord Organ in its living room. The ebony finish of the Chord Organ is silhouetted against a wall of robin egg blue. The draperies are metallic gold with horizontal stripes. The sofa is mustard colored. The cocktail table's ebony finish matches the Chord Organ, but the coral top offers a pleasing contrast. This modern setting suggests relaxation by its very simplicity.

THE CHORD ORGAN IS PART OF THE MEANING OF "HOME" FOR THE MANY THOUSANDS OF FAMILIES OWNING ONE

*Fare you well, old house! you're naught that can feel or see,
But you seem like a human being—a dear old friend to me;
(From "The First Settler's Story", by Will Carleton—Stanza 20)*

The word "home", with all its implied meanings, is beyond definition. Home has a different meaning for everyone.

But one thing is certain, the building does not make the home. It's what goes into the building and the relationship among the people who live in it that make the home. Home is an instrument for happy living and this is true whether it be a one room apartment or a forty room mansion. Psychologists have shown us that our surroundings influence us for better or for worse. If our home surroundings are comfortable, restful, and pleasing, we are better equipped to deal with the everyday problems. A good home makes for better social adjust-

HOME NEWS

Hammond in the Heart of the Home—The Hammond Chord Organ was placed in the activity room of the "Home for All America" model house in Arlington Heights, Illinois, because this room is the heart of the house where children play and sleep, and where the family gathers for fun with music and books.

The room is rectangular with windows at both narrow ends. The Chord Organ is at right angles to one window space with pin-up lamp near it for lighting, and casual pull-up chair for seating. To the left of the Chord Organ, under the window is the TV set.

Hammond's new blond finish was chosen for the room to blend with the monochromatic color scheme of the house—mustard, cinnamon, and pumpkin, with accent colors of black and white. One color scheme was chosen for the house for several reasons—to give continuity to an open house—to give the house a spacious feeling—to avoid conflict of color.

In the activity room, wood paneling goes from floor to ceiling. Vinyl tile on the floor is cinnamon and white, and area rugs are cinnamon with white fringe. Glass curtains are fishnet in a warm tone, and bed spreads are bark cloth.

View of the living room in new contemporary house illustrating trend setting "livability" features of a new home design for multiple production houses: stained plywood walls, glass window wall, indoor planter, stone fireplace with raised-seat hearth; rayon draperies and carpeting, traditional design furnishings, and the Hammond Chord Organ.

ment, more social opportunities, more friends, more fun. These are the things that create a possibility for happiness.

In spite of all the many technological advances that have been realized in home building and interior design, a basic problem has arisen. Space is the great luxury of the 20th Century. Increasing construction costs discourage the building of the large roomy kind of home. More planning and forethought have to be given to save space. The compact little ranch-type home or small apartment has no room for large, clumsy looking furniture.

The Hammond Chord Organ meets the space-saving demands of the 20th Century. It will fit into the smallest spaces of a crowded apartment or a compact house trailer. It is just 43 inches wide and is less than three feet high. Not only is the Chord Organ compact in design but it is light in weight as well. Weighing only 156 pounds, it can be moved around easily to give variety to the interior scheme of things.

Leading interior designers have discovered that the Chord Organ is as modern looking as the 20th Century and will blend harmoniously with any kind of room interior. The three basic finishes of the Chord Organ—walnut, blond, and ebony make it possible to fit into a room that is Early American, French Provincial, Victorian, contemporary, modern, or any other design. And the Chord Organ is used in every part of the home. The living room is the most popular choice for the Chord Organ, but it is also found in activity rooms, dens, dining rooms, patios, and even kitchens.

The Chord Organ is a musical instrument for the whole house and for the whole family to enjoy. It goes wherever there is entertainment for friends, or where privacy can be enjoyed.

The Chord Organ in being a part of the meaning of "home" is not just a musical instrument to play, but it is a thing of beauty to make home surroundings more pleasing in which to live. But even more important it is an integral part of the many happy hours that the family share together in the enjoyment of music. In contributing these things to family life the Chord Organ is an important part of what "home" symbolizes for the many thousands of families owning one.

(Below) A newspaper ad in a Galesburg, Illinois newspaper sold a Chord Organ to Mrs. Claude W. Westerdale. She had to give in to her long wish to play organ music, so she sold her husband on the idea of buying her a Chord Organ.

ENTERTAINMENT NEWS

Chord Organ Entertains Diners in a Snack Shop or a Supper Club

(Left) Between the sounds of "ham on rye" or "hamburger with" you can hear the soothing strains of organ music at the popular Maid-Rite Snack Shop in San Bernardino, California. Mr. Coste Di Marco, the proprietor, not only exceeds in cookery but is also an accomplished Chord Organist. Patrons find that the food tastes even better accompanied by music. But the Chord Organ has created one problem for Mr. DiMarco. He sometimes gets carried away with playing the Chord Organ and forgets to prepare the sandwiches for the patrons.

(Right) Down in Houston, Texas guests at the Charcoal Inn hear the rhythmic music of the Charcoal Inn Quartet, blended with the sound of sizzling steaks. Don Holcombe, a well known organist of Houston, is featured at the Chord Organ. The Quartet is featured each week on the Bill Roberts TV Show over Channel 13, KTRK.

1500 SELECTIONS OF CLASSICAL, RELIGIOUS AND POPULAR MUSIC ARE ESPECIALLY ARRANGED FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN

Music is being published for the Hammond Chord Organ at an average rate of one musical selection each day. More than 300 selections were published last year. Since 1951 when the Chord Organ was first introduced to the public, about 1600 selections of music have been issued by the leading publishers of the country. Among these selections is music to appeal to everyone's taste — popular hit songs, semi-classical favorites, hymns, folk songs, school songs, jazz and classical selections. This quantity and variety of selections are providing almost endless hours of diversion for the Chord organist. But this is only the beginning of music published for the Chord Organ. Leading publishers are planning to expand their publication of Chord Organ music in the future, and more recordings are being made with the Chord Organ.

A Musical Kaleidoscope With the Hammond Chord Organ

The tremendous versatility and potential of the Chord Organ have been beautifully presented in this recording which covers some of the best instrumental effects obtainable on the instrument. Even professional keyboard artists, whose sole impression of the Chord Organ has been its ease of playing facility, are absolutely amazed at the wide range and assortment of musical voices.

Forty-seven different effects are recorded on both sides of the long-playing (33-1/3) album. A few bars of each selection are played to demonstrate the particular instrumental or orchestral effects. Tablet registrations and a description of each selection are printed on the back of the record jacket. Included in the group are:

Orchestral Bells with organ accompaniment	A clarinet solo
Cello solo with organ accompaniment	Woodwind jazz
A "Sophisticated" ocarina	French horn in a symphony orchestra
Flute and piano solo with organ accompaniment	The flutes in the symphony orchestra
Orchestral woodwind and horn	Flute and xylophone solo
A violin solo	Orchestral flutes and clavichord

No. 36

THE HAMMOND ORGAN CO., 4200 W. DIVERSEY AVE., CHICAGO 39, ILLINOIS

April 1956

PARENTS' LETTERS TELL HOW THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN GIVES THEIR CHILDREN A NEW INTEREST IN MUSIC

Children are often denied the fun and satisfying experience of playing a musical instrument simply because they are afraid or don't want to take the time for lessons. Many children will often start to take music lessons, but get discouraged by the seeming long tedious hours of practice before they can learn to play. The unused musical instruments collecting dust in many thousands of homes are evidence to this fact.

The many hundreds of letters we have received from owners indicate that the Hammond Chord Organ is a family instrument used by both parents and children. Children begin playing the Chord Organ immediately. No boring practice exercises are necessary. Parents tell us that the Chord Organ doesn't give children a chance to get bored, because they can play good music in no time at all. And thousands of children who would never play a musical instrument, otherwise, experience the satisfaction of creating their own music on the Chord Organ.

Here are just a few excerpts from the many letters we have received from parents who have a Chord Organ in their home:

. . . "Our oldest child, a son twelve years of age, who at any time we can recall showing an interest in music, surprised us with the ease he has acquired in playing the Chord Organ. That alone made us so happy we have made this purchase."

. . . "My son had polio about six years ago and is confined to a wheel chair with no use of his legs and his left arm is somewhat paralyzed. This Chord Organ has been a God send . . . He plays very well not only with the Picture Music but in some pieces he can follow the notes."

. . . "I have nothing but favorable comments to make concerning the Chord Organ and am overjoyed at the interest in music that it has instilled in my children. The television set is being treated like a step-child these days."

. . . "I recently purchased one of your Hammond Chord Organs. The whole family is 'nuts' about it and while none of us can read a note, we (even my twelve year old boy) were playing some tunes within the first hour after we brought it home."

. . . "There are four in our family. We have a thirteen year old daughter and a six year old son. We are all learning to play the

"ETUDE" MAGAZINE PUBLISHES TWO CHORD SELECTIONS IN APRIL ISSUE

One of the most prominent music magazines in the country, ETUDE, is now occasionally publishing one or two selections of music arranged for the Hammond Chord Organ. The April issue contains "Mighty Lak' a Rose" and "Invitation to the Dance".

ETUDE, published by Theodore Presser Company is probably the "bible" of more music teachers than any other magazine. The publication carries feature stories and several regular monthly columns devoted to almost every aspect of music instruction. Also included are about eight music numbers—mostly for the piano.

The magazine's decision to publish Chord Organ arrangements certainly reflects the acceptance this musical instrument is rapidly gaining among music teachers and educators. Subscription rates are $3.50 per year. Single copies 40c. If any Chord Organ owners would like to examine a copy of this publication containing a Chord Organ selection, they should write to ETUDE, Theodore Presser Company, Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania. Presser has also published three Chord Organ albums, At the Hammond Chord Organ, Eighty-Seven Hymns For the Hammond Chord Organ, and 31 Graded Solos For the Hammond Chord Organ.

Chord Organ and are having a lot of fun. We have no previous musical training so are pioneering in the field of music."

. . . "May I say for both my husband, daughter, and myself — never have we had and enjoyed anything as much as our Chord Organ. It certainly does have a calming and restful effect on one."

. . . "I just have to write this letter to tell you what a wonderful instrument the Hammond Chord Organ is. The wonderful thing about it is the working man can afford to buy one because of the low prices. And how simple it is to play without knowing music. My wife, and twelve and fifteen year old girls play it."

. . . "Our six year old daughter has amazed us all. She couldn't read but she did know her letters when we bought the Chord Organ in September. In two months she could go through the first music album and play many in the second. At Christmas she played carols for my church society meeting."

The excerpts from the letters quoted indicate that parents realize the pleasure and education that playing the Chord Organ gives their children. In most cases whether or not the child is developing a music talent for the concert stage is not important. Unusual talent can be recognized in the early stages of playing and plans can then be made for a serious musical education.

The important fact is that thousands of children, who would ordinarily be deprived of the rewarding experience that comes from playing a musical instrument, are given this privilege on the Chord Organ. Children are developing an interest in music that is not just a passing fancy, but an interest that they will carry with them the rest of their life.

"31 Graded Solos for the Hammond Chord Organ"*

When it comes to playing "characteristic" and "novelty" styles of music, the Hammond Chord Organ is unsurpassed by any other instrument. "31 Graded Solos for the Hammond Chord Organ" was especially arranged to provide the Chord Organ owner with a comprehensive collection in these new fields. None of the selections are hard to play, and many of the most effective ("March of the Wee Folk," "Betty's Wooden Shoe Dance," etc.) are extremely easy. About one third of the material was composed by Ralph Federer whose musical ideas are entertainingly styled in a distinctly modern manner. Some of his pieces progress slowly and are of a romantic character ("Roses at Twilight," "Starlight Serenade," etc.) while others move along in a light syncopated style ("Cute as Cotton," "Struttin' Along," etc.). Also included is a fine collection of characteristic pieces depicting motion (skipping, flying, playing, etc.) which cover the "hurry" and "mysterious" types used by the old time movie theater organist in accompanying the silent pictures. Then too, there are Tieman's lovely "Hawaiian Twilight" and Engelmann's "Melody of Love." Contents:

Novelty Characteristics:

Across the Footlights
 Cute As Cotton
 Lonely Dancer
 Struttin' Along
Melodies of Love and Romance:
 Hawaiian Twilight
 Roses at Twilight
 Melody of Love
 Night in Vienna
 An Old Romance
 On a Summer Night
 Smoke Dreams
 Song at Midnight
 Starlight Serenade

Animated Characteristics:

Swaying Branches
 Flying Birds
 The Sleigh Ride
 Golden Spurs
 Gaily Skipping
 Song of the Soldiers
 Good-Time Brownies
 Playing Ball
 In the Park
 Jumping Jack

Very Easy Characteristics:

 Betty's Wooden Shoe Dance

Funny Little Hop Toad
 Hopping Harry
 Betty's First Waltz

"Hit Parade Favorites" for the Hammond Chord Organ

You will find this folio a most interesting and unusual one. Not only does it contain a fine collection of popular standards such as "My Mammy," "How Ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm," and "Rock-A-Bye Your Baby with a Dixie Melody" but also a splendid group of the player-piano hits of the early twenties. Perhaps by now you have forgotten some of the titles, but every one of the 15 melodies will surely come back with a terrific nostalgic impact when you play them on your Hammond Chord Organ.

One of the practices of the old-time jazz player was to add a tricky, little "ending" after finishing each piece. On the back page of this book are some of these "endings" which are given in various keys. They may be used at the end of almost any fox-trot but are especially effective for the jazzy fox-trots contained in this album. Contents:

My Mammy
 Rock-A-Bye Your Baby with a Dixie Melody
 How Ya Gonna Keep 'Em Down on the Farm
 Old Pal
 Where the Angels Is Ringing
 Let By-Gones Be By-Gones
 If I Knock the "I" out of Kelly
 Yauka Hula Hickey Dula
 Arrah Go On

*Published by Warock Music, Inc., 1780 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. The price is $1.00. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

"Hits from Broadway" for the Hammond Chord Organ

Here are all the famous hits from top-ranking Broadway shows such as Guys and Dolls, The Pajama Game, Kismet, Hans Christian Andersen, Damn Yankees, and Where's Charley?. Also included are many other fine popular standards such as "Rags to Riches," "Unchained Melody" and others. Incidentally, the duet styling of "The Moon of Manakoora" is marvelously effective with the Hammond Chord Organ's double "Solo" and "Organ" tone generating divisions. There are 23 selections, all of which are carefully arranged for the greatest ease in playing and are artistically registered to make the most effective use of the Hammond Chord Organ's vast tonal resources. Contents:

From Guys and Dolls:

A Bushel and a Peck
 I've Never Been in Love Before

If I Were a Bell

I'll Know

From The Pajama Game:

Hey There

Nernando's Hideaway

Steam Heat

From Kismet:

Stranger in Paradise

And This Is My Beloved

Baubles, Bangles, and Beads

From Hans Christian Andersen:

Anywhere I Wander

Wonderful Copenhagen

*Published by the Frank Music Corp., 119 West 57th Street, New York 19, N. Y. The price is $1.50. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

"WE ALL NEED LOVE"

WE ALL NEED LOVE is one of the most popular songs on the current "top ten" hit parade. It makes a charming solo and we know that you will all enjoy playing the special duet style arrangement for the Hammond Chord Organ found on the back side of the regular popular song sheet music. Observe that all the notes should be played up one octave. As a variation you might want to try playing them an octave lower, but you will find that the strong counter-melody from the Organ Division is most effective when played in the higher range.

*Published by Remick Music Corp. The price is 50c. Order from your music dealer.

PURPLE HEART VETERANS GIVE CHORD ORGAN TO LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA VA HOSPITAL

Veterans at the Long Beach VA Hospital received a new and unusual rehabilitation and entertainment instrument when the Long Beach and Hollywood Motion Picture Chapters of the Military Order of the Purple Heart presented a Hammond Chord Organ to Dr. E. V. Edwards, Hospital Manager and Col. W. R. McBrien, Chief of Special Services for the veteran patients.

The Chord Organ was presented on the eve of General George Washington's birthday, as part of the Purple Heart Order's customary celebration of the anniversary of the great military leader, who originated the Purple Heart decoration in 1782, and upon which the present national veterans organization of combat wounded service men was founded.

The presentation was made by Past National Commander Clifford A. Parmenter, a charter member of the Long Beach Chapter, who represents the Purple Heart on the VA Volunteer Service (VAVS) Committee, which is comprised of representatives of veteran's and civic organizations interested in helping maintain necessary entertainment, recreational, and various supplementary "aid" service to the regular hospital staff.

A session is enjoyed by the Military Order of the Purple Heart members before the Chord Organ was presented to the VA Hospital.

When Parmenter presented the Chord Organ to the Long Beach VA Hospital, he stated that "the greater value of a Chord Organ, which can be adequately mastered in a very short time lay in its potential as a rehabilitation instrument to rejuvenate and uplift the sagging or low morale patient and especially those not able to get out of their wards, or even beds. The mobile organ can be rolled up to a bed, when the patient can even play it from a semi-prone position or easily from a sitting position on the bed."

A low slung moving "dolly" equipped with roller bearing casters on which the Chord Organ will set was built by the engineering staff (gratis) of Calavo Growers of California. This will enable the Organ to be moved easily from ward to ward, where concerts will be played for the benefit of bed-ridden patients, who can't be escorted to the Recreation Hall for the many fine entertainments put on by veteran and civic organizations.

AUTHOR OF "EXECUTIVE SUITE" AND "CASH MC CALL" RELAXES FROM HIS WORK BY PLAYING HIS CHORD ORGAN

Cameron Hawley needs no introduction to readers of fiction and movie-goers. His novels, Executive Suite and Cash McCall, were on the best seller lists for months. The movie version of Executive Suite was one of the most successful film productions of two years ago. Readers also know Mr. Hawley for the many articles and stories he has written for magazines like the Saturday Evening Post, Life and Good Housekeeping.

Hawley's popularity as a writer of fiction is of recent origin. He didn't always write short stories and novels. The material for his writing is based upon his years of actual experience in the business world. He got to know the ins and outs of corporate life (the subject of most of his writings) during his 25 years with the Armstrong Cork Company.

Born in Howard, South Dakota, the son of a policeman, and grandson of an Indian Scout, Hawley attended South Dakota State College. He joined the Armstrong Cork Company in 1927 as an advertising man and eventually worked up through sales to become Advertising Director. As a sideline during his business career, Hawley wrote magazine fiction, movie scripts, and almost 200 radio and television plays for network broadcasts. His success as a part-time fiction writer was so phenomenal that the sideline became a full-time career. After 25 years of service he retired from a successful advertising career at Armstrong Cork Company, to devote all of his time to writing novels.

The rest of Mr. Hawley's career is well-known. His first novel, Executive Suite, met with immediate success and was even adapted into a movie. His next novel was another success appearing in condensed form before publication in Life magazine.

Businessmen are depicted by Hawley in his novels as neither heroes, nor heels, nor geniuses, but as expressed by one of the characters he created, "A quite ordinary group of men, disconcertingly human, given to the man-on-the-street practice of basing decisions on hunch and intuition." Reviewers of Hawley's novels were baffled when they read them. So accustomed to the satirical treatment of businessmen by other well known novelists, they kept searching for the tongue in Hawley's cheek.

Hawley now lives on his farm in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, where he is devoting his time to writing and the management of breeding Aberdeen-Angus cattle. But getting away from the strenuous work of writing is vital to the success of any author. One of the best sources for Hawley's relaxation is playing the Hammond Chord Organ. As Hawley explains it, "A half hour at the Chord Organ is one of the best ways I have found to let down the tensions and unwind those nerves."

PILOT-OWNER OF GLENDIVE, MONTANA FLYING SERVICE SPENDS FREE TIME ON GROUND, PLAYING CHORD ORGAN

Many of the leisure hours at home are shared by Art Soare and his wife by playing the Chord Organ.

Mr. and Mrs. Soare and their Beechcraft Bonanza, one of the five planes of the Glendive Flying Service.

What is it like to run a flying service, be your own pilot and mechanic, land hunters on the cow pastures, hunt for frozen bodies in the Eastern Montana snow, and fly pregnant women from the farms to hospitals?

These are the varied experiences in the life of Art Soare, owner and operator of the Glendive Flying Service in Glendive, Montana. Soare also does crop-spraying and specialized work for the Oil Companies. His fleet of planes includes three Aeronca Champions, a single engine Beechcraft Bonanza, and twin Cessna. Until recently he had a Cessna 120 for instruction and charter, but a student pilot demolished the plane on a take-off. Although the pilot was uninjured, the plane was a total wreck.

Soare has flown almost 8,000 hours since he started flying back in 1930. During the war he was a civilian instructor for the Army Air Force at the Oxnard, California primary school, and later at War Eagle field at Lancaster, California.

After the war, Soare continued flying, but this time for himself, as a charter pilot and later as Airport manager at the Pomona, California field where he also operated a flying service.

Today, Soare is busier than ever before and is running a highly successful business. He takes almost daily trips for Oil Companies, flying core samples out and taking personnel in for inspection tours. He does a lot of charter work and flies from Canada to the Eastern part of the United States and would probably fly to Alaska or Cuba if anybody hired him to do it.

When the weather is too bad for flying or if business is slack, you'll see both Art Soare and his wife at their Chord Organ. Just as they share the responsibilities of running their flying business together, they also share in the fun and relaxation of creating their own music on the Chord Organ.

CHORD ORGAN HELPS BRING A "HOME" ATMOSPHERE WHERE MEMBERS OF ARMED FORCES ARE STATIONED

Captain Guy W. Otto spends much off-duty time from the Army Air Force relaxing at the Chord Organ in his home in Japan.

Friends of Captain Otto, Mr. and Mrs. Hashimoto play their own oriental-type music on the Chord Organ.

Members of the Armed Forces have to make a "home" out of the place wherever they are stationed, whether it is in the United States or some remote part of the world. The adjustment is particularly difficult for families who follow the servicemen to where they are stationed.

The meaning of "home" consists of many things and is different to every individual. But the men in service have found that having their families and favorite possessions with them where they are stationed helps make a home for them.

The Chord Organ helps bring some of the American home atmosphere among the Oriental environment of Japan where Captain Guy W. Otto is stationed with the Army Air Force. In fact it's almost like being home in the United States, since Otto is able to have his wife with him. Both Captain Otto and his wife play the Chord Organ during the off-duty hours. Writes Mrs. Otto, "My husband and I both find it very relaxing and a delight for someone, who doesn't know any instrument or much about music, to be able to get such beautiful music with no lessons involved. We are particularly enjoying the Chord Organ over here, where we have no television to compete with our spare time".

The Chord Organ is also enjoyed by the friends Captain and Mrs. Otto have made in Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Hashimoto and their family have also discovered the fun of playing the Chord Organ. The differences in language did not permit an explanation of the instrument's controls to Mrs. Hashimoto, but she sat down and was soon making a rhythm with the chord buttons that sounded very Oriental but good. Mr. Hashimoto, an electrical engineer was intrigued by the Chord Organ's production of tones, since a similar instrument is not made in Japan.

Back in the United States Lt. Colonel Byron E. Cowart has a Chord Organ in his home at Colorado Springs, Colorado. Although he is now more or less permanently stationed at nearby Fort Carson,

Chord Organ and Armed Forces (Con't.)

Col. Cowart has spent six of his eighteen years of Army service overseas. His assignments have taken him to Europe, Alaska, and the Pacific area.

All three members of the Cowart family take turns at playing the Chord Organ. Col. Cowart's son, James, plays the Chord Organ every afternoon after returning from school, while Cowart and his wife share the remaining time. Family interest in the Chord Organ is so great, that it appeared the Colonel was going to establish an army-type training schedule where specific hours at the instrument would be assigned to each member. But as it worked out, each member of the family's free time didn't conflict with each other.

Carpenter Creates a Miami, Florida Tropical Setting for the Chord Organ in His Home in Caldwell, N.J.

No, what you see is not a Chord Organ being played on the beach of Miami, Florida. It is a beautiful mural in the home of Mr. William K. Lund of Caldwell, New Jersey. A carpenter by trade, Lund installed the large mural to give an outdoor look to his living room. The Chord Organ not only has given Mr. Lund a lot of enjoyment but it also proved to be a great help in recovering from a recent illness. He had the misfortune of falling off a scaffold and suffering from a skull fracture about three months after he purchased the instrument. All during his convalescence the Chord Organ helped him in his recovery both physically and psychologically. Now that he is recovered, Lund can play any kind of music on the Chord Organ — and play it well, too.

CHORD ORGAN CLUBS

Omaha, Nebraska More than 125 people gathered in the recital hall of the Schmoller and Mueller Piano Company to attend the first Chord Organ party held in that area. Included among those attending was General Curtis LeMay, Commander of the United States Strategic Air Force. The program included a showing of the "Musical Kaleidoscope" sound-color film, a discussion period, followed by refreshments and the giving-away of door prizes. The enthusiasm of the group indicates that plans will be made for the formation of one or more Chord Organ Clubs.

Newport News, Virginia The "Hammond Key Club" was organized with 23 charter members. Orvid Barbour was elected President; David Young, Vice-President; and W. R. Etheridge, Secretary-Treasurer. Meetings are held the first Tuesday of every month at the Thomas Piano Company.

Klamath Falls, Oregon Members enjoyed a special dinner meeting held at the Klamath Falls Yacht Club.

Palos Verdes, California Some of the most enthusiastic members of the Palos Verdes Chord Organ Club are the teenagers who have all learned to read standard music with great rapidity.

Beaumont, Texas The Beaumont, Texas Chord Organ Club was recently organized at a meeting at the Cathay Restaurant.

OWNER'S LETTERS TELL HOW THE CHORD ORGAN AIDED THEIR RECOVERY DURING ILLNESSES

Psychologists and physicians have found through treating their patients that music can often do wonders in the cure of diseases, mental disorders, and physical deficiencies. Music has also speeded up the recovery of patients during their convalescence.

Owners have often written to us telling us how Chord Organ music helped them to recover from an illness or aid them during their convalescence. Here are excerpts from a few of the letters we received:

. . . "My hobby of playing the Hammond Chord Organ seems to have a great deal more therapeutic value than I anticipated. During the two years previous to my buying a Chord Organ, I was having real trouble with my digestive system. Shortly after buying the Chord Organ, my condition seemed to improve. After extensive x-rays and laboratory tests, my trouble was diagnosed as due entirely to nerves and tension. I realize that such a pleasing hobby can do a lot for such a condition, but in my case, the organ is paying for itself in the saving of doctor bills."

. . . "All my life I have wanted to play an organ. I'm 61. Imagine my joy when I found your Hammond Chord Organ and could play it right away! My husband had passed on just a short time before I found it and it certainly has helped tremendously in making such terrific adjustments. Later I had to have a major operation and again my Chord Organ came to the fore through a long period of convalescing."

Jim Hobart of Santa Rosa, California lost his left hand during World War II, but with the use of an artificial hand he can play the Chord Organ with a great degree of dexterity.

A Chord Organ is installed in the chapel of the Chatham Public General Hospital, Windsor, Ontario, Canada for the patients and nurses.

"'52 Classical Favorites for the Hammond Chord Organ"

Here is the classical folio for which thousands of Chord Organ owners have been waiting! This splendid collection brings into focus three interesting factors.

First, it shows the musical potential of the Hammond Chord Organ to be virtually boundless. Not only does this new album contain charmingly simple melodies, but it also includes classical, semi-classical and ballet selections of considerable stature such as Chopin's "Military Polonaise", Dvorak's "Indian Lament", and Sibelius' "Valse Triste".

Second, this album clearly indicates that one reason for the classics living down through the ages lies in the fact that they are unsurpassed for sheer musical beauty.

Third, the contents of this folio beautifully illustrate the amazing truth that classics are just as easy to play on the Hammond Chord Organ as are folk tunes or Broadway "hits". Thus, the exquisite melodies of Moszkowski's "Serenata" and Beethoven's "Für Elise" are as easy to play as the simplest popular waltz. Gliere's famous "Russian Sailor's Dance" (from "The Red Poppy") is easier to play than "Home on the Range".

Also featured in this folio is the famous music from Delibes' "Coppelia", "Sylvia", and "La Source" ballets as well as Gounod's ballet music from "Faust" together with an extensive collection of very easy-to-play little classics by Streabog, Lange, Behr, and Lichner. Of course, the bulk of the music bears the names of the indisputable "greats" — Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Dvorak, Handel, Tschaikowsky, Chopin and Sibelius to mention but a few.

Here is a wonderful treasure of the world's most vital music for less than three cents a selection! Just look over the contents! All of the numbers are carefully and artistically arranged and registered.

PHYSICIANS FOLLOW THEIR OWN PRESCRIPTION — PLAY THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN TO RELAX

Dr. John C. Ullery, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Ohio State University Hospital spends some time each day to relax at his Chord Organ in his home at Columbus, Ohio.

Playing the Chord Organ filled the prescription for a relaxing hobby for Dr. Verne H. Blackwelder of Lenoir, North Carolina.

Physicians are taking a few doses of the relaxation they've been prescribing for their too-busy patients. A lot of overworked physicians have tried playing the Chord Organ as a "wonder cure" for tension. And "wonder cure" it has proved to be.

Wrote Dr. John E. Allgood of New Middletown, Ohio, "Although I never knew a note of music I am now playing popular and classical selections on my Hammond Chord Organ. I have had many hours of relaxation and enjoyment I wouldn't take a fortune for."

One of the busiest and most popular doctors of Lenoir, North Carolina, Dr. Verne H. Blackwelder, knew he needed a hobby for relaxation but wasn't sure what it should be. Then by chance he discovered the Chord Organ and his search was ended. Now he spends those spare moments between calls, office hours, and hospital visits playing the Chord Organ.

Time is precious for Dr. John C. Ullery of Columbus, Ohio, who not only has a busy practice but also holds the very important position of Professor and Chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Ohio State University Hospital. Dr. Ullery knew that an absorbing hobby in music would be one of the best ways of relaxing. But his busy schedule wouldn't permit him to take time for music lessons. The Chord Organ was the complete answer to his needs. Without time out for lessons he now plays the Chord Organ and forgets about his responsibilities for a few moments.

Dr. John E. Allgood of New Middletown, Ohio, never knew a note of music before he played his Chord Organ for relaxation.

MUSIC PUBLISHERS STEP UP CHORD ALBUMS FOLLOWING HAMMOND PROGRAM IN NEW YORK

Mr. Harold C. Lembke, General Sales Manager of the Hammond Organ Company addressed a gathering of America's top music publishers in New York at a luncheon sponsored by the company.

"My Prayer" Released For Chord Organists

The trend towards more current hits arranged for the Chord Organ is exemplified by the release of "My Prayer" (published by Shapiro, Bernstein, and Company, Inc., 1270 Sixth Avenue, New York 20, N.Y. 50c). Recent BILLBOARD magazine ratings listed this tune at the top of their Honor Roll of Hits. Chord Organ owners will certainly want to take advantage of this opportunity to add a hit parade favorite to their music library.

A profile of sales of the Hammond Chord Organ, given at a Hammond luncheon for music publishers in the Colonnades Room of the Essex House, New York, revealed a continuing upsurge for more solo arrangements, folios and albums, according to Harold C. Lembke, General Sales Manager of Hammond.

Mr. Lembke told publishers that Chord Organ sales are pushing the instrument into a top keyboard position with sales running 61% over last year, and a very definite promise of winding up the year with a 90-to-100% increase.

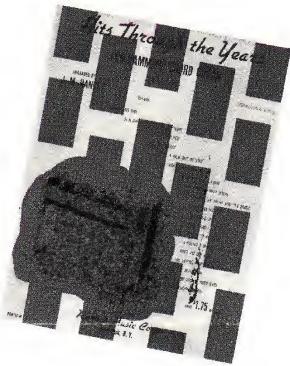

Publishers responded to the Hammond presentation by releasing five new albums and one solo arrangement. Most publishers are planning several new albums for early release this Fall. (Reviews of the Chord Organ music albums just released by the publishers are on the next two pages.)

Over the past few years, close to 2,000 selections have been arranged and published for the Hammond Chord Organ in album form, which is just a token of what the Chord Organ music market can absorb.

New music in particular catches the fancy of the Chord organist, as they are eager to learn the current top tunes. Publishers were urged to place more emphasis on this phase of their Hammond publishing.

COLUMBIA RECORDS RELEASES NEW CHORD ALBUM, "ORGAN AND FIRELIGHT", FEATURING HAL SHUTZ

The quest for new talent is a continuing one with America's recording companies. About three months ago, a group of Columbia Records executives were listening to some tapes by a comparatively new but talented organist from the West Coast, Hal Shutz. They knew him only by reputation. And, most amazing to them: he was playing a Hammond Chord Organ.

Columbia had produced many records on the larger model Hammond Organs, not to mention some of the world's finest pipe organs, but to their way of thinking, the Chord Organ was strictly an "easy-to-play" instrument with very little real musical potential.

Hal's first selection on the tape was "'S Wonderful". The polite listening that, perhaps, accompanies many auditions soon turned to sharp attention, as Hal revealed an exciting styling with this fast tempo selection. However, it was his next number, "Love is a Many Splendored Thing", that really captured his critics. Hal started with some lovely string tones, built to startling crescendos and quickly faded into some beautiful and delicate oboe qualities.

Midway through this tape Columbia's people were on the phone to Hammond's offices in Chicago. The conversation went something like this.

"Shutz is great! One of the best organ recordings we've ever heard. We're really impressed but are you certain he's just using a Chord Organ? Isn't that your lowest priced unit anyone can play?"

We quickly assured them it was a Chord Organ — anyone can play it — but don't be misled by its simplicity of operation. The Chord is quite an instrument. It has a musical potential which could very well exceed anything on the market in the years ahead.

The tape played on and Columbia's listeners heard Hal handle the Chord in the rhythmic, "Ecstasy Tango", followed by a truly majestic rendition of "Riders in the Sky". The clear and true percussion effects of the Chord Organ were nicely demonstrated in his next number, a very unusual melody called "Hawaiian Wedding Song".

Maybe no other musical instrument is capable of accompanying such dramatic changes as Hal displayed when he recorded his very authentic "Caliope Medley", and then moved into an interpretation of "I'll Remember Paris", which gives the feeling of a George Shearing type combo in places.

Multiple strings set the mood for his next song, "I Could Have Danced All Night" and absolutely no one stirred during his "Song from Moulin Rouge" — a sincerely beautiful arrangement with tremendous expression.

The tape wound up with another nice fast beat tune,

"I Can't Believe that You're in Love With Me", a pulsating rendition of "Tabu" (one of his best) and the scintillating "Lisbon Antigua". Although the decision had been made on the second selection, the Columbia officials nodded after the last number and started production on this exciting new album, "ORGAN AND FIRELIGHT". It has now been released.

Two words seem to keynote this album — Feeling and Versatility. The feeling comes from the artist, Hal Shutz. A native of San Francisco, who is not too well known outside of the Bay region, he has taught and played professionally for many years. You might say Hal is a "musician's musician". His music demands careful listening to really appreciate his intricate coloring, unusual styling and great sensitivity.

The versatility comes from the organ in the hands of a fine musician. Few people realize that the Chord Organ is not only a truly remarkable organ, but, within itself it is a very distinctive and individualistic instrument. Hal Shutz brings out these qualities very capably. It is difficult — almost impossible — to describe many of the different, yet lovely tonal effects and shadings he uses, because many of them are completely new to the world of music.

We can only say buy this album . . . listen to it carefully . . . and you'll be completely thrilled, if not amazed, at what you hear.

SEE YOUR NEAREST HAMMOND DEALER OR RECORD SHOP. THE ALBUM IS "ORGAN AND FIRELIGHT". CODE NUMBER CL 905. IT'S AVAILABLE ON 33-1/3 and 45 RPM.

"Favorite Hymn Tunes for the Hammond Chord Organ"*

Many Chord Organ families like to bring the reverent atmosphere of religious worship in their homes through the medium of music. "Favorite Hymn Tunes for the Hammond Chord Organ" contains many of the hymns that people have enjoyed singing in churches through the years. They have become so enrooted in the religious tradition of churches that they will probably always be sung and played. In almost every Protestant church you will hear "Holy, Holy, Holy", "Rock of Ages", or "Faith of Our Fathers" sung. "America the Beautiful" has even become a patriotic hymn for people of all religions in America. These are hymns that every Chord Organ family will like to enjoy together in their homes.

Complete contents of the folio are:

Abide with Me	Jesus Lover of My Soul
America the Beautiful	Lead Kindly Light
Come Thou Almighty King	Nearer My God to Thee
Faith of Our Fathers	O God Our Help in Ages Past
For the Beauty of the Earth	Rock of Ages
Holy, Holy, Holy	Sweet Hour of Prayer

"Waltz Time for Hammond Chord Organ"*

When it comes to playing waltzes, the Hammond Chord Organ is unsurpassed. The necessary shadings of delicate rhythmic nuance which are produced with the Chord Bar (while also sounding a sustained harmony background with the Chord Buttons) are unattainable on any other instrument. The new Witmark folio, "Waltz Time for Hammond Chord Organ", is perfect waltz material. Contained are twenty-three of the very choicest waltz successes from the combined Witmark, Harms, and Remick catalogues of copyrights. Each of the selections is beautifully arranged to produce a maximum of orchestral effect together with ease of playing. The volume is filled with the outstanding works by the musical "greats" in the field of popular music — Cole Porter, Rudolph Friml, Noel Coward, etc. As you can easily see from the contents listed below, this is a folio worth having on your Chord Organ rack!

Current Hit Songs Released for Chord Organ

"My Prayer"

Still listed among the top ten most popular songs, "My Prayer" is holding its own on the "Hit Parade". Since it was made popular by "The Platters", it has since been recorded by several other well known recording artists. The arrangement is splendidly done with double choruses in different keys and playing styles.

*The publisher is Shapiro, Bernstein, 1270 Sixth Avenue, New York 20, N. Y. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher. The price is 50c.

"In the Middle of the House"

"In the Middle of the House" is very tuneful and catchy and the words are so amusing that they are worth singing while you play. Incidentally, you will find the ingenious train and whistle effects clever and worth remembering. The arrangement clearly illustrates how a melody may be effectively varied by playing it first in a solo style as single notes and then repeating it up an octave in an ensemble style with right hand chords and vice versa.

*Published by Shapiro, Bernstein and Co., 1270 Sixth Ave., New York 20, N. Y. The price of each is 50c. Order from your dealer or direct from the publisher.

"There's Never Been Anyone Else But You" and "Giant (This Then Is Texas)"*

Dimitri Tiomkin's splendid music from the motion picture Giant (starring Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson, and James Dean) has received rave notices from all sides. The movie's two outstanding song successes, "There's Never Been Anyone Else But You" and "Giant (This Then Is Texas)" are now available as Hammond Chord Organ arrangements. You will find them on the back pages of the regular piano sheet music.

"There's Never Been Anyone Else But You" is a beautiful love song and is arranged in a duet style in which the melody lead progresses with "Bass" and "Soprano" woodwinds registered on the "Solo Division" while the counter-melody is registered with a string quality on the "Organ Division". The composite effect is stunning and highly orchestral.

"Giant (This Then Is Texas)", on the other hand, is played at a rousing march tempo. The number has a terrific drive and musically depicts the power and open spaces of the state of Texas. Here is an effective place to use your "Solo Fast Attack" stop. You will find that this stop will impart a desirable positiveness to the melodic presentation. Also, tap the left pedal on each beat in the measure.

*Published by M. Witmark & Sons. Order regular piano copy from your dealer. The Hammond Chord Organ arrangements are on the back pages. The price of each number is 50c.

"When the White Lilacs Bloom Again"

This is the instrumental success which is being currently featured over radio and TV by such outstanding artists as Lawrence Welk and Florian Zabach. It lends itself beautifully to Hammond Chord Organ arrangement, and we know that you will be particularly charmed by the interesting right hand countermelody and harmony progressions which weave themselves along with the slow and tender melody. These amazingly successful orchestral techniques are made possible by the Hammond Chord Organ's double tone generating resources - a vitally important exclusive feature found in no other musical instrument.

*Published by Harms, Inc. Order regular piano copy from your music dealer. The Hammond Chord Organ arrangement is on the back page. The price is 50c.

"I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus"

"I Saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus" has become a perennial Christmas favorite. The music has a delightful lift and lends itself beautifully to arrangement on the Hammond Chord Organ. In the score, you will find that the first "Vocal Chorus" is very easy to play with just one finger at a time playing the melody on the keyboard. The second "Instrumental Chorus" is scored in a new key, and the right hand part is arranged to play in chords. This provides a delightful contrast to the first chorus.

*Published by Harman Music, Inc., 1619 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. The price is 50c. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

"Tonight You Belong to Me"

Just released from the publisher is a Chord Organ arrangement of "Tonight You Belong to Me". Here is another song at the top of the "Hit Parade" listings. The most popular recording of it was made by the popular sister duet, Patience and Prudence.

*Published by Bregman, Vocco & Conn, Inc., 1619 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. The price is 50c. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

"Mama From The Train (A Kiss, A Kiss)"*

Here is one of the most delightful waltzes arranged for the Hammond Chord Organ. You will find this very easy-to-play arrangement on the back page of the regular popular song edition. The arrangement beautifully illustrates the general principle employed by professional organists of avoiding possible tonal monotony by alternating from a "solo" style of playing the keyboard (one key played at a time) to an "ensemble" style of playing on the keyboard (several keys or chords played at a time). In the "Mama From The Train" arrangement, you will note that the verse has been scored in a single note "solo" style whereas the chorus is scored in a full chорded "ensemble" style.

*Published by Remick Music Corp. Order regular piano copy from your music dealer. The Hammond Chord Organ arrangement is on the back page. The price is 50c.

Top Hits Just Released For Chord Organ

"CANADIAN SUNSET"

Here is a Number 1 current hit beautifully arranged for the Hammond Chord Organ. The styling is quite different from anything done before. Note the clever introduction. It's something to remember whenever you want to set a good "beat" for a selection in the key of F. As everyone knows, the melody is very catchy and "instrumental" in character — makes a splendid Hammond Chord Organ novelty solo.

*Published by Meridian Music Corp., 35 West 51st Street, New York 19, N. Y. The price is 50c. Be sure and order the Hammond Chord Organ edition.

"IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK LIKE CHRISTMAS"

Here is one of Perry Como's Christmas favorites. As arranged for Chord Organ, you will find Meredith Willson's pretty melody very easy to play. This attractive arrangement is scored in double choruses and in different keys.

"SOFT SUMMER BREEZE"

"Soft Summer Breeze" is undoubtedly one of the prettiest melodies on the hit parade today. Its charming melodic scoring lends itself perfectly to Chord Organ arrangement. The very carefully worked out arrangement makes the Chord Organ virtually sound like an orchestra (especially in the transposed second "Instrumental Chorus"), where one clearly hears the main melody in octaves, counter-melody and other inner-voice movement in the Organ Division strings, rhythm chord accompaniment, sustained background harmony, and bass. This is a fine number to play slowly with four pedals to the measure. Remember to just tap the pedals—their tones will continue to sound after the pedals are released to produce a very good plucked string bass effect.

*Published by Regent Music Corporation, 1619 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. The price is 50c. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher. Be sure to ask for the Hammond Chord Organ edition.

"TRUE LOVE"
